

Information Technologies' Website Privacy Policy

- Worcester State College does not collect personally-identifiable information on our web site or otherwise unless you choose to give it to us via an electronic mail message, SSL-protected Web communication, a phone call, or postal mail. Even when you choose to give us information, the college will keep it strictly confidential.
- Worcester State College does not sell, rent, share, or otherwise disclose mailing lists or other personally identifiable information. The college will maintain some records of individuals who contact us in case it needs to contact you later or provide further information to you in the future. However, the college does not provide this information to anyone else unless you give your permission in writing.
- Worcester State College does not share names or other identifying information unless you provide written authorization.
- Occasionally, Worcester State College may enable cookies on our website for the purposes of demographic tracking and personalization. Information obtained from cookies will not be exchanged with outside parties.
- Worcester State College wishes to give you as much control as possible over your personal information. In general, you can visit Worcester State sites without telling the college who you are or revealing any information about yourself. There are times, however, when Worcester State College may need information from you, such as your name and address. It is the college's intent to let you know before such information is collected from you on the Internet.
- If you choose to give Worcester State College personal information via its website in order for the college or its business partners may correspond with you, process an order, or provide you with information, the college will let you know how it will use such information in advance. If you tell the college that you do not wish to have this information used as a basis for further contact with you, the college will respect your wishes.
- Worcester State College does keep track of the domains from which people visit. The college analyzes this data for trends and statistics.
